

We love the painted cement floor. "We had no choice when it came to the colour," says Erika. "It was the only tin of floor paint we could find in town."

Chicken wire was removed from the windows and replaced with glass. A collection of bottles bought at antique stores adds a lovely touch, as do the distressed Oregon pine bedside tables which pick up on the pops of blue throughout the house. Dewald and Erika made the bamboo structure to accommodate a mosquito net.
